XV. Additional Risk Disclosures

- a. Before deciding to participate in investment markets such as Securities, Equities, Futures, Cash Forward or Forex You should carefully consider your investment objectives, level of experience and risk appetite. Most importantly, do not invest money You cannot afford to lose.
- b. There is considerable exposure to risk in any off-exchange transaction, including, but not limited to, leverage, creditworthiness, limited regulatory protection and market volatility that may substantially affect the price, or liquidity of a currency or currency pair.
- c. Moreover, leverage means that any market movement will have an equally proportional effect on your deposited funds. This may work against You as well as for You. The possibility exists that You could sustain a total loss of initial deposited funds and be required to deposit additional funds to maintain your position. If You fail to meet any margin requirement, your position may be liquidated and You will be responsible for any resulting losses. To manage exposure, employ risk-reducing strategies such as 'stop-loss' or 'limit' orders.
- d. The Subscriber should not engage in any investment directly or indirectly in Financial Instruments unless they know and fully understand the risks involved in each Financial Instrument.
- e. The Subscriber declares that they have read, comprehend and unreservedly accept the following:
 - i. Some Financial Instruments may not become immediately liquid as a result of reduced demand and the Subscriber may not be in a position to sell them or easily obtain information on the value of these Financial Instruments or the extent of the associated risks.
 - ii. When a Financial Instrument is traded in a currency other than the currency of the Subscriber's country of residence, any changes in the exchange rates may have a negative effect on its value, price and performance.
 - iii. A Financial Instrument on foreign markets may entail risks different to the usual risks of the markets in the Subscriber's country of residence. In some cases, these risks may be greater. The prospect of profit or loss from transactions on foreign markets is also affected by exchange rate fluctuation.
 - iv. A Derivative Financial Instrument (i.e. option, future, forward, swap, contract for difference) may be a non-delivery spot transaction giving an opportunity for profit or loss on changes in currency rates, commodity, stock market indices or share prices called the underlying instrument.

- v. The value of the derivative financial instrument may be directly affected by the price of the security or any other underlying asset which is the object of the acquisition.
- vi. The Subscriber must not purchase a derivative financial instrument unless they are willing to undertake the risks of losing entirely all the money which they have invested and may lose more than they have in their market account as well as any additional commissions and other expenses incurred.
- vii. The Subscriber acknowledges and accepts that there may be other risks which are not contained above.
- viii. The Subscriber should take the risk that his trades in Financial Instruments may be or become subject to tax and/or any other duty, for example because of changes in legislation or his personal circumstances. Quant Junkie Network, Inc. does not warrant that no tax and/or any other stamp duty will be payable. The Subscriber is responsible for any taxes and/or any other duty which may accrue in respect of their investments.
